PRE-AUCTION OFFERS

The Auctioneer advertises “Pre-Auction Offers are Welcome” as a way for the buyer to have the option to purchase the property prior to the live Auction event. Pre-Auction offers are predicated on the fact that the buyer will be purchasing under the same terms as the live Auction event including, but not limited to, adding the buyer’s premium to the bid price offer to obtain the final contract price. The Auctioneer will verbally call the seller with any pre-auction offers based on the fiduciary of the Auctioneer to present all purchase offers prior to the actual live Auction event. If the Seller decides to “entertain” the verbal offer, then the buyer will be required to provide a Bank letter of Credit or Pre-Approval Letter and the advertised non-refundable trust money made out to Nashville Auctions before entering the home. The seller may require a larger non-refundable deposit amount for pre-auction offers than was advertised. At this time, the buyer has the opportunity to walk through and inspect the property. If the buyer decides to move forward, a non-contingent Auction purchase contract and supporting documents will be signed and sent to the Seller for final approval and signing. These are the exact same documents that would be signed on the day of the auction. The Seller at any point in the process could decide to accept another offer or decline and wait for the actual auction date. If a Pre-Auction offer is accepted in writing by both parties the live Auction event will be cancelled. The closing date may be adjusted to a quicker close date depending on when the offer was accepted. This date will be disclosed and agreed too prior to acceptance of the offer and in writing.
