Incline Village, NV. -- A First Time Homebuyers Workshop, open to the public, will be hosted by Incline Village Realtors on May 22, 2025, from 5:30pm -7:30pm, at the Chateau in Incline Village. The Workshop here will feature speakers from the regional community, including mortgage lenders, credit repair agencies, insurance companies, banks, title companies, and leaders from Incline Village Crystal Bay Association (IVCBA) and Incline General Improvement District (IVGID). Resources and information geared toward breaking down barriers for the first time homebuyer will be provided to consumers as part of a grant obtained by Incline Village Realtors from the National Association of Realtors (NAR) consumer advocacy grant program. Spanish translators will be available at the event.

“IVR is excited to work with our local community businesses and leaders to provide consumers information and resources they need to purchase their first home and break down barriers to homeownership,” said the CEO.

The grant will also facilitate an IVR webpage with multiple language options for First Time Homebuyers. The webpage will host video (s) of the event and information that could be helpful to members of the public interested in purchasing their first home.

Dr. Laura Vitencz is the chief executive officer for IVR in Incline Village, NV. Vitencz worked closely with a team of community volunteer business leaders, real estate professionals, Membership Services Director Camryn Murray and Sean McDonald, 2025 President of the IVR board to make this workshop a reality.
